

Posters session

Saturday early evening will be a unique event in this year's program. The poster session will be like a medieval market place for sharing matters of intellectual significance along with performance, lyric and rhetoric. This year we are offering posters as an alternative format for you to share your ideas. A dedicated poster room will have the posters on display throughout the conference. Saturday early evening will bring all conference delegates to this space to peruse and dialogue with poster presenters.

The session will include drinks and snacks, a short monologue by Abha Banerjee and a table set up for mask-making. The latter is in preparation for the evening: a Fools masquerade. The Poster Session will be a highlight of the conference and we expect a lively interchange of ideas in a convivial atmosphere.
